

TERRY PAUKERT

GRAND FORKS TENNIS LEGEND

Terry is a Grand Forks native who was active in tennis, hockey, and football while in high school and later attended UND on a hockey scholarship and was also a member of the tennis team. Terry worked as a high school teacher for many years and coached numerous hockey and tennis teams in the community. In recognition of his efforts to develop strong, confident athletes he was the recipient of the United States Tennis Association C. Burton Junior Development Award. Despite retiring in 2012, Terry continues to volunteer his time coaching young athletes of all ages free of charge at Riverside Park each summer, which has affectionately been dubbed “Terry Tennis” by his players. Terry continues to be active in boys and girls high school tennis, volunteering his time to both high schools to assist in growing the game of tennis in the community.
